AFFAIRS IN BROOKLYN.

HE PROBABLY KILLED HIS PLAYMATE. A BOY STARS A COMPANION AND THEN TRIES TO DROWN HIMSELF.

William Gestram, a fifteen-year-old boy, living a No. 64 North First st., attempted suicide on Sunday night by jumping into the East River after stabbing and probably fatally wounding Frederick Tragman, seventeen years old, of No. 355 Central-ave. Tragman is confined at his home in a critical condition There are five wounds, two of which are said to have penetrated the lungs. The two boys met a number of companions at Wythe-ave, and North First-st., where several words were exchanged which led to blows. In the tight Gestram drew a knife and plunged the blade into the body of his playmate. and informed the pliot, who stopped the boat. Life preservers were thrown to the boy, but he refused to accept them. The noise made by the passengers attracted a bootman, who went after the would be suicide. Gestiam was taken ashore and turned one bistrict. District Respital. At the hospital the boy said he had jumped into the water because he had stabbed a as they thought he was raving. The stabbing of Tragman did not reach the Fifth Precinct for some time after Gestram had been in the hospital. The wounded boy had been carried to his home, where Dr. Loventhal dressed his wounds. After spending the night in the hospital Gestram was taken yesterday before Justice Goetting, who held him to await the result of Tragman's injuries.

LIQUOR MEN MAKE A PROTEST.

Mayor Boody gave a hearing yesterday to the protests of liquor dealers against the proposed increase of the license fee from $100 to $150 a year. The Council Chamber was filled with 250 mem bers of the United Liquor Dealers' Association, and their president, Robert W. Oliver, was the first man. He said that they protested strongly an increase in the fee. Adam Schaff, a against an increase in the fee. Adam Schaff, a former Member of Assembly, urged that no city was so little adapted to large license fees as Brooklyn. It had no transient travel and no great business centres, but was a city of bomes. There were 100, 000 or 125,000 men who went to New-York daily, and lunched there, and if they drank it was in New-York. They speat their evenings at their homes or chibs. Brooklyn had fewer licenses in proportion to popula-tion than any other city in the State. The increase in receipts from the increased fees would go to the city charities and not to the public treasury. Frank McCutcheon, secretary of the association, said that there was never a worse time to seek to increase the license fee, as business had been poor the last few mont's.

Mayor Boody replied by saying that the question is simply one of revenue for the city, which was or compared with New-York. There was a bill ore the Legishtare, providing that the city trees should profit by the increase. There was no fire to interfere with the business of liquor sels or to cast seproach upon it. The Mayor said would carefully consider the subject.

MAYOR BOODY ON THE CONSOLIDATION BILL. Corporation Counsel Jenks sent a letter yesterday to Senater Brown, chairman of the Cities' Committee of the Senate, setting forth the views of Mayor Roody upon the Consolidation bill. It embedied the amendment proposed at the hearing in Albany, providing that after the vote on the question is taken that the commission shall only prepare bills for the consolidation of such cities and towns as vote in favor of it, instead of instead of preparing bills irrespective of the vote, as provided in the original bill. Mr. Jenks wrote: stand Then on this proposition-either make the bill one which submits the question to the people at the polls, or, if it must contain the present section 3, then provide that this old commission shall prepare tills only affecting such city, county, town or part of town as shall have pronounced in favor of con-s Edati:n by its own pepular vote."

GATHERED ABOUT THE TOWN.

The members and friends of the Washington Avenue Baptist Church on Thursday evening will give a public reception at the church to the paster, the Rev. Dr. Edward Braislin, and his wife, who have recently returned from their wedding tour in the South.

It was expected that Judge Moore would hand down his decision yesterday in the question of the dismissal of the indictments found by the Grand Jury in Deer in connection with the Columbian celebration bills, but he said he had not had sufficient time to examine the thirty cases before him. He said he hoped to reach a decision by Saturday.

At the special meeting of the Brooklyn Press Club last evening to elect a president to succeed William Walton, who recently resigned William H. Cassidy nimously elected to the office. He is a mem ber of the staff of "The Brooklyn Times," and was the Republican candidate for City Auditor a few years ago. The vacancy in the board of governors years ago. The Vacancy in the board of governors caused by the elevation of Mr. Cassidy to the presidency, which makes him a member of the board of governors ex-officio, was filled by the election of George H. Rowe, of "The Times."

The strenuous efforts put forth by the wife of William H. Cochrane, who disappeared from No. 973 Bergen-st. on Friday night with $1,500 in his pocket, to find him have been without avail. Mrs. Cochrane cannot imagine a reasonable cause for his absence. His friends think he may have become mentally unbalanced, as he had been under severe mental strain

At the March meeting of the Congregational Club at the Clarendon Hotel last evening the subject of "Organized Effort for Church Extension" was discussed by the Rev. Drs. John Humpstone, George P. Mains and S. H. Virgin, and George P. Stockwell.

THEY OPPOSE THE TAXATION OF MORTGAGES.

There was a full meeting of the Legislative Comttee of the Real Estate Exchange yesterday to con-ter the bill recently introduced into the Assembly to tax all mortgages at the rate of 1-2 of 1 per cent. H. Moeran presented the objections to the bill. O. B. Potter strongly opposed the proposed measure on the ground of its great injustice to those whose property is mortgaged. He emphasized his argument by pointing to two corners in Fifty-pintle-st., one of which is occupied by Mr. Astor's hotel and the other by Judge Dugro's hotel. There was no mortgage, he said, on Mr. Astor's hotel, which would consequently escape the tax, while Judge Dugro's hotel bore a of over $000,000, and would therefore pay that tax in addition to the tax on the real estate.

to the workingmen who own small homes.

Resolutions were adopted strongly condemning the proposed legislation, and a committee was appointed to go to Albany and present them at the adjourned meeting of the committee which has charge of the bill.

EAST SIDE YOUTHS PLAY " COWBOY."

THEY OCCUPY A CELLAR AND GREET THE

OWNER WITH A FUSILLADE OF BULLETS. Michael Splain, eighteen years old, of Sixty-lifth st., near Third-ave., and another young man, decided on Sunday to play "cowboys." They made belts out of their suspenders, filled them with cartridges, and secured possession of three revolvers. About no m-time, Max Siegel, living at No. 220 East Eightleth-st., hearing revolver shots in the cellar of the house, de-cided to make an investigation. As soon as he threw open the cellar door the boys greeted him with a wild yell and several pistol shots. Siegel fled in terror to the roof of the house followed by the youngsters who continued to fire the revolvers. The noise and the cities of Siegel attracted the attention of the neighbors. Detective Long and a patrol-

JERSEY CITY.

Gress Sleigh, thirteen years old, whose parents live at No. 161 Arlington-ave., Jersey City, died on Sunday night under circumstances that will probably be investigated by the police, though the case has not yet been placed in their hands. Young Sleigh, who was an only child, attended school No. 12. Last Tuesday, after returning from school, he told his mother that he was going out to play. In the evening mother that he was going out to play. In the evening he complained of pains in his stomach and the next morning he said his head hurt him. A physician was summoned, but the boy went into spasms which recurred frequently until Sunday afternoon, when he died. In a lucid interval on Sanday morning he told his mother that while at play on Tuesday afternoon a boy had kicked him in the stomach. Before the boy's name could be learned he again became unconscious.

The funeral services were held last night. His parents have not been able to ascertain whom he was playing with.

John Meyer, if grocer, of No. 506 Bloomfield-st., Hoboken, noticed that for several months his cash receipts were smaller than usual, although his sales were about the same. He saw that his clerk, Charles Krassman, nineteen years old, whose salary was #6 week, always were good clothes and seemed to have an invisible source of revenue. Meyer learned recently that Krassman had 8000 in a savings bank. He consulted Detective Nelson and balanced his cash sales every night. He found that money was disappearing constantly from the cash-box. Yesterdisappearing constantly from the cash one. Feature day morning he put a marked ten dollar bill in the lox, and an hour later missed the note. He called Nelson, who was waiting in the neighborhood. The stolen bill was found in Krassman's pocket. The clerk had nothing to say, and was locked up. When taken before Recorder McDonough he admitted having stolen the money, and that hesides what he had squandered he had $600 in a savings bank.

LONG ISLAND CITY.-Thomas P. Burke, who was on, surrendered himself to sheriff Norton yesterday. Burke disappeared while the contest between Messrs eaving, gave Gleason a certificate of election. Burke returned to his brother's home, in Greenport, on Saturday, and sent word to the Sheriff that he would Saturday, and sent word to the Sherin that he want surrender himself yesterday and would be prepared to give bonds. He did so, and Depuly sheriff Wal-lers and ex Mayor Glesson accompanied Burke to County Judge Garretson's court, where Mr. Glesson and Edward M. Tyrrell gave $2,000 heads for his appear-ance. It is said that Burke was in Florida while still unsolved. Nothing was developed yester day that would throw light upon the fate of Joseph Sione, the man employed for a year by Expressm Remsen, of Gravesend Beach, as a driver. All kir of theories are being advanced to account for Stone's disappearance but no one has been able as yet to trace him. It was stone's custom, in common with a number of the other drivers, to stop at a number of hotels in New-Utrecht and Gravesend for orders. All of these were stalied yesterday, but no one remembered having seer Stone or his wagon on Tuesday night, when he disappeared.

FLATEISH.—At the risk of his life Nelson Bennett, a young man of Grantst., Flatbush, yesterday morning stopped a runaway horse. The driver of the coach was Frank Oliver, coachman for Richard Young, of Lincoln Road, leather merchant of the swamp. The runaway was caused by one of the reins breaking and the snapping of the breeching strap, which became entangied in the horse's legs. The horse started off on a run and tore down Flatbushave, for half a mile. The driver was powerless to control it and shouted for help. At Linden Boulevard and Flatbushave, the horse was running straight for a trolley car, which was only a few yards away, Mr. Bennett ran from the sidewalk, grasped the horse's head, and steered it clear in time to avoid a collision.

CURIOUS MEANS TAKEN TO CATCH A THIEF. When it was discovered shortly before 6 o'clock Satur day evening that a tin box containing about $1,500 ha stolen from Le Boutilher Brothers, drygoods dealers in West Twenty-third-st., an extraordinary order was issued for the purpose of discovering the thief. The 300 employes were about ready to leave the store when the theft was discovered. Immediately an order was given that all the exits be closed. This was done. Detectives came; questions were asked, and general indignation pre-valled among several hundred innocent employes, who denounced the action as an outrage. The employes were kept in the store almost two hours later than usual The thief was not discovered. Yesterday a member of the firm when asked about the occurrence by a Tril une reporter said that he had nothing to say about it except that the money had actually been stolen.
